

One of the most interesting things about ghostwriting is the freedom to outsource.

That freedom, if well utilized, will allow you to make a lot of money without doing much in particular.

In this pdf, you'll learn about:

- Everything about Outsourcing

Read on.

What is Outsourcing?

Outsourcing is an age-long practice that is still being used today in almost every aspect of life. It involves getting another writer to do the job for you. This may be because you cannot do the job or you do not want to do it because of time constraints or other things.

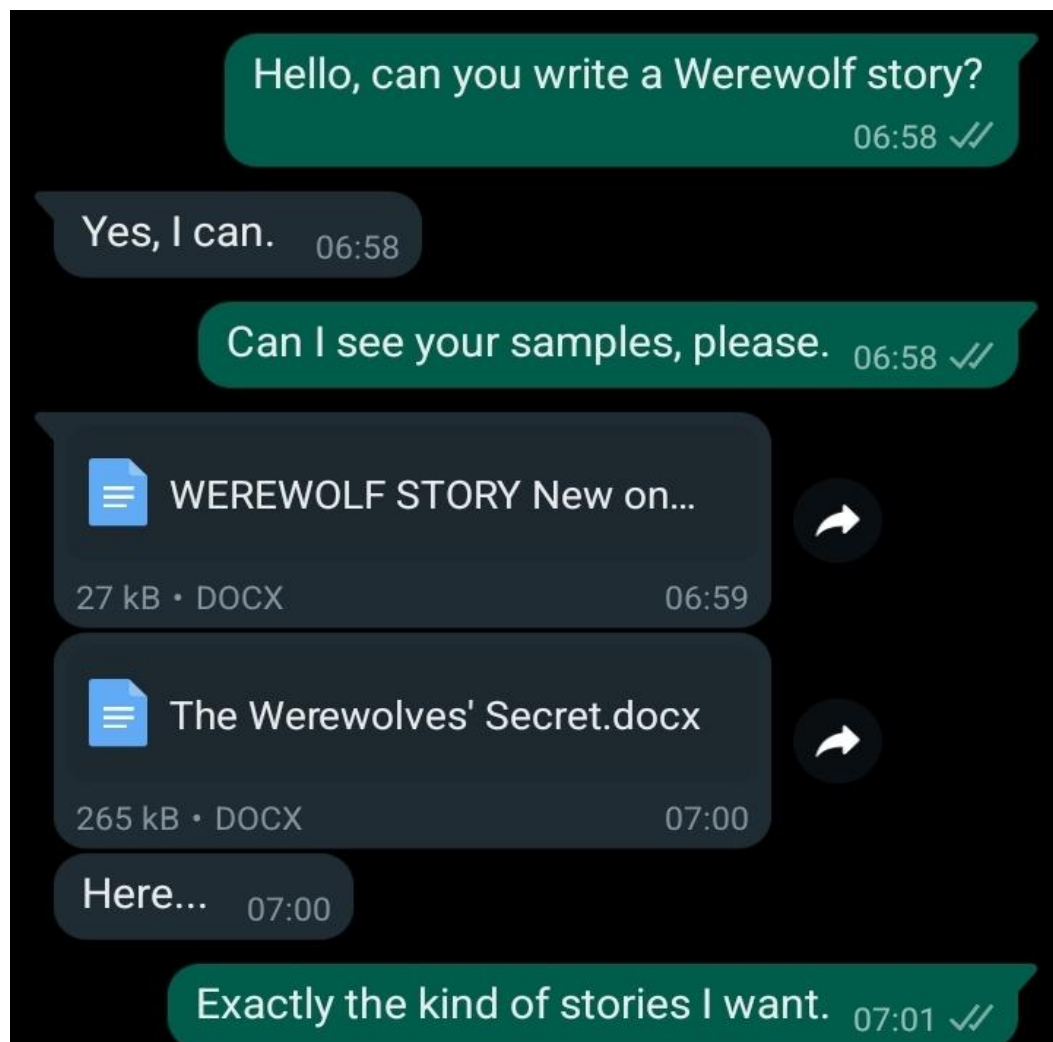

In this situation, you don't do the job personally, but you will still earn from it.

Look at this scenario:

You want to get a contract with GoodNovel but you don't know how to write or you don't have the time because of job constraints or so.

You'll hire another ghostwriter and have the following conversation:

BEFORE GIVING THE JOB

Here's what I want:

You'll write a werewolf story plot and the first 5000 words of the story and send it to me.

I'll forward it to the client for review, and if it passes the review you'll take the job and go on to write the full story. 07:15 ✓✓

1. Make the book pace fast
 2. Make the character development frame strong.
 3. Setting should be suited for American and European readers.
 4. Make the story plot so attractive and the first 5000 words attractive

Okay, boss.

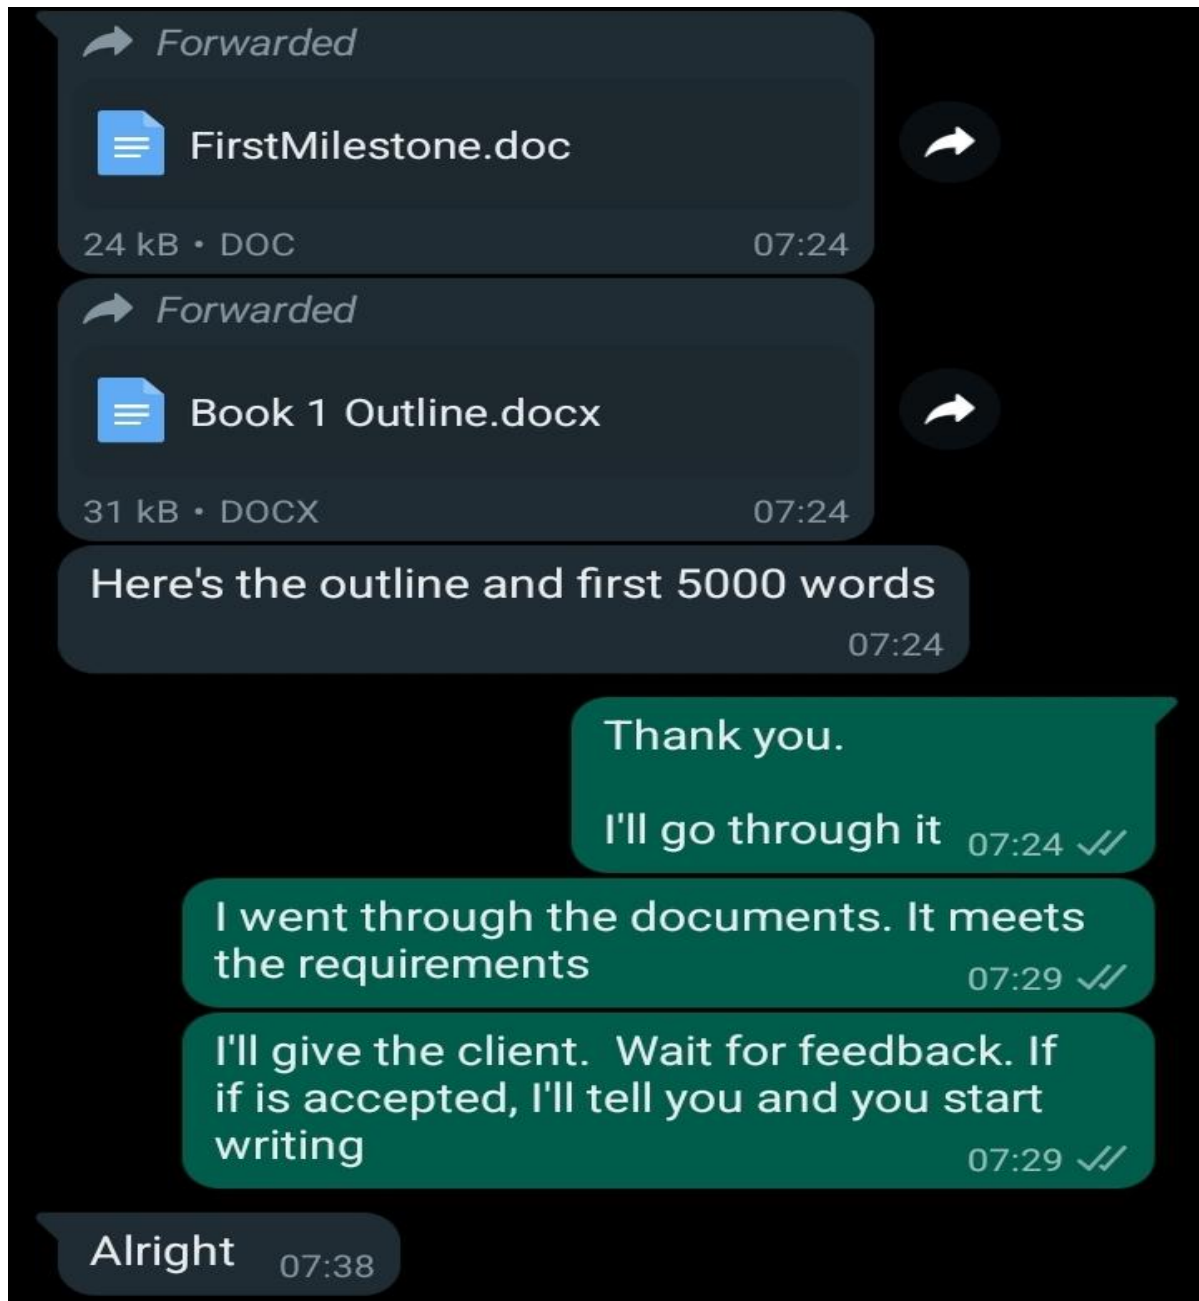

I get. So when do you want it? 07:18

Can I get it in three days time? 07:19 ✓✓

Yes 07:19

Perfect. Please keep to time. 07:19 ✓✓

WRITER SUBMITS FIRST BATCH

If you go through it and find some issues, you're free to call the writer's attention to it so he or she can address those issues.

AFTER CONTRACT APPROVAL

The job was accepted and the contract was given.

The story will be 100k words in total and I am to submit a chapter daily. A chapter should be 2000 words daily.

However, you are not submitting daily incase of unforeseen circumstances.

You're submitting weekly. You'll give me all chapters of the week each Sunday.

Understood?

Start work now.

Keep to deadlines too

If you want him to submit daily, no problem too. These pictures are just for illustration.

NEGOTIATING PAYMENTS

I intentionally did not include payment negotiation there as you have to negotiate payments by yourself.

When you are outsourcing, payments should be made per word. In naira.

That means you can pay them 1 Naira per Word or 2 Naira Per word.

If you are paying 1 Naira per word for a 100,000 words story, it equals 100,000 Naira.

If you are paying 2 Naira per word for a 100,000-word story, it is 200k

You just have to make sure that enough money remains for you after paying off the writer.

You'll pay the writer at the end of the story when you're paid.

FINDING A CAPABLE INDIVIDUAL TO OUTSOURCE TO

There are more than enough writers who will be willing to write for you. But there are also unserious writers who can waste your time. So you just have to take care in choosing them.

Where can you find them? Writers are everywhere. On Facebook, Facebook groups, WhatsApp, and Twitter. You can also ask people on social media if they know a ghostwriter who is ready to take on a job.

Before hiring them, check samples of their jobs. If you like it, work with them.

If you don't, look for another.

Ask them to write the plot and the first 5000 words for you.

If it is approved and you're given a contract, work with them.

If it is rejected, tell them and find another who can do it better. You have nothing to lose here.

Hire logically and not emotionally.

Don't hire because the person is your friend, hire because he is good at writing.

Ensure that you do not miss uploading deadlines. Communicate the same to your writer.

You should not miss a single day on Web Novel.

There's a site that does not allow you to miss more than two days,

Others do not allow more than four days.

If you miss more than this, you won't be paid.

So keep to deadlines.

Endeavor to pay your writer when you're paid.

Through outsourcing, you can earn without doing the work yourself.

You just have to find the right writer to do it for you.
