He later told her of the curse and she wrote it off as a myth. She changed her tune after the first time she changed over and she refused to let a little thing like an ancient curse stop her from her career path.

But her condition was taking over, she became even more ruthless at the office as her wolf-like anger bled over and she started going home early during the full moon.

At night, despite her best efforts to keep locked up, she hunted down her rivals in the company until she was next in line for the CEO position. She loved how close she was but hated who she had become in the process. At the verge of becoming the CEO, John Rawlings, the owner of the Corporation who is also a werewolf, an Alpha, discovers that Anastasia is a werewolf and was responsible for the death of top figures in the corporation.

The battle line is drawn....

THEME: Romance. Competition.

EXPOSITION

Leighton is from a family of werewolves. He's the youngest of them all and a fresh graduate of the University of Satzenbrau. He decides to leave the comfort of his family and friends for the first time and go to America, where he will work with Norton Corporation which is owned by his uncle, John Rawlings, who is also a Werewolf.

His family and friends are against him, warning him that he's safer as a Werewolf in Satzenbrau than in America. Leighton has already made up his mind and embarks on his journey to America where he is given the role of technical director in the huge corporation. However, no one knows that he is related to Jeff Rawlings.

Anastasia is a young, beautiful American lady who is in her third year as Secretary in the Corporation. She dreams of ascending the ladder of the Corporation up to the position of the CEO and she is well on her way to doing that. The current CEO, Mr. Laurent Blanc, an old and frail fellow was set to retire in one year time.

A fine young man joins the Corporation newly and Anastasia cannot keep her eyes off him. She tries hard to get his attention. The young man known as Leighton notices her advances and starts coming around her more often. Both become best of friends and soon enough, they become hot lovers.

INCITING INCIDENT

Anastasia is promoted to the rank of Assistant director, making her fourth in the pecking order of the company. Her dream to become the CEO is just as strong as ever.

In a tough economic year, America slips into recession and this has adverse effects on the company. As such, it suffers a loss of over 20 million dollars. It's a state of emergency and the owner of the company flies in from his overseas resort to hold an emergency meeting and discuss the way forward. The meeting starts at the close of work, and due to the severity of the situation on ground, the meeting drags far into the night and would have continued even longer if not for the intervention of John Rawlings who postpones the meeting until the next day. John Rawlings ends the meeting with an ulterior motive. He realises that there's a full moon and does not want to transform into a werewolf before his workers. Although as an Alpha, he has control over when to transform and when not to.

A stressed out Anastasia decides to make use of the Restroom and her lover, Leighton, follows suit. Nobody raises an eyebrow because they are pretty much known as lovers by everyone.

While in the restroom, due to the effect of the full moon, Leighton transforms into a werewolf and bites Anastasia effectively making her a werewolf in the process. Anastasia is too dazed to comprehend what has happened. The initial shock of the werewolf attack and survival thereafter led to a heavily traumatic experience.

RISING ACTION / PROGRESSIVE COMPLICATION

After some days, on April 1st precisely, Leighton visits Anastasia at home and explains what happened to her. He tells her of the curse but Anastasia writes it off as a myth. She changes her tune after she begins to notice changes in senses and her behavior around others.

Meanwhile, John Rawlings suspects that his nephew must have transformed into a werewolf in the restroom and becomes disturbed if he had bitten Anastasia. He queries Leighton and Leighton lies about it saying that nothing of such happened.

John Rawlings is relieved. He only wants himself and his nephew as the only Werewolves in the corporation. He is wary of the unhealthy atmosphere that another werewolf will bring.

John Rawlings travels back to his resort as usual leaving the company under the care of Laurent Blanc.

Anastasia does not yet know that she's a werewolf and in that short days of innocence that followed, their love blossoms like never before and they have sex for the first time. Before having it multiple times.

CLIMAX

Her physiological transformation into a werewolf begins approximately one week after infection, as the viral DNA essentially takes over her body. It doesn't take long before something baffling happens to Anastasia. It was on the night of a full moon, she and Leighton had gone together to watch her favourite team play at the stadium. And when they return, Anastasia was on the verge of undressing when she transforms into a werewolf, it is a painful process, there is a lot of screaming, snapping, stretching, and howling involved.

Her bones forcibly elongate and change her shape, it moves so drastically that they rupture her skin.

The first transformation is quite slow and Anastasia is subjected to five hours of intense pain before transforming.

After reverting to human form the morning after the night of the full moon, Anastasia does not retain any memory of their time in wolf form, although she was able to remember some of the emotions that they felt.

After the first transformation, subsequent transformations take faster but still hurt. Anastasia is no longer the same. She now has unibrows, hairy palms, mismatched fingers, glowing eyes, abrasions on the arms and legs, unquenchable thirst, dry tongue and eyes. She also starts craving for raw meat. Her body temperature becomes higher than average. Her character experiences a major change as she becomes more ruthless, aggressive and incessantly angry, at work, at home, and to everyone except Leighton, her lover. Anastasia starts going home early during full moons for fear of transforming to a werewolf in public.

The Frail and old CEO, Laurent Blanc dies and this paves way for his second in command to be made the CEO.

Despite Anastasia's efforts to keep locked up, her Wolf spirit disagrees. She visits her colleague's home in the dead of the night and kills him. While the company was still mourning his death, two more persons died. They were directly above Anastasia in the pecking order to become CEO and their deaths meant Anastasia was now the eligible one for the position of CEO. She loved the turn of events but hated how she killed her colleagues.

The manner of deaths were identical and clearly suspicious. Panic gripped the corporation and led many workers to resign from the corporation for fear of death.

DENOUEMENT

Upon hearing all that has happened, John Rawlings flies to his company and surveys the situation. A mere look at Anastasia confirms his suspicion that she's a werewolf. Being an Alpha werewolf, John Rawlings knew all the signs that werewolves had. He was angered, most especially with his niece, Leighton, for lying to him that he had not bitten Anastasia on that night of the full moon.

In fury, John Rawlings visits Leighton at home and decapitates him by removing his head and leaving him to die.

He then turns his attention to Anastasia but Anastasia flees from him, even quitting the company. A series of hide and seek battles occurs between them.

Anastasia remains in society, killing indiscriminately. She does not last long, as John Rawlings intensifies his attack on her. She however separates herself from the din of society to find solace in the seclusion and safety of the wild. It is here that she becomes part of a larger, stronger social class: the Pack.

Characteristics

Whereas Omega Werewolves look more human than wolf and Alpha Werewolves are more wolf than they are human, Betas are literally in the middle of both. The Alphas are the leaders and the omegas are the outcasts, but the Betas are the members of the pack. They are the most common type of werewolf and they also have various colored eyes, but the most common color is bright shining gold.

Additionally, if a Supernatural Hunter is dealing with a Beta Werewolf, it is extremely likely that a pack is not too far away, including the Beta's Alpha.

Powers and Abilities

*"Here's the thing. Though they are only just pack members, Beta's are nonetheless vicious killing machines. I've seen even one Beta capable of wiping out an entire town square."
—jake, about Beta Werewolves*

Although not possessing any special powers like Alphas do, Beta's are very powerful monsters. They possess all the common physical attributes inherited in all werewolves and other shapeshifters, but they are stronger, faster, and better than Omegas. Some have even been known to be powerful enough to fight Alphas, even though they are the Werewolf pack leaders. One Beta Werewolf can wipe out things from a small group of hunters to an entire town square.

Shapeshifting: Werewolves have the ability to shape their features into that of a partially lupine form, which involves glowing eyes, fangs, claws, a ridged brow, and large sideburns. With practice, Werewolves can learn how to only transform a few selective features as needed, such as only extending their claws to cut something, their fangs to bite something, or simply making their eyes glow to enhance their eyesight or display their supernatural nature.

- Superhuman Strength: Betas possess superhuman strength that makes them even stronger than humans, Omega werewolves, and some vampires. They possess enough strength to toss fully grown humans across a room with great force. The limits of their strength varies at times in human form. After transforming into their wolf-like creature form, their strength is increased. With single swipe of their clawed-hands, they can decapitate humans and even other Betas. Whilst they are not as strong as vampires in human form, some Betas have been known to take down vampires, from newbies to vampires over 500 years old, making them more powerful than normal vampires during a full moon.
- Superhuman Speed: Betas are even faster than humans and can run and move at speeds that are far beyond the natural physical limits of the finest human athlete. In human form, they can run at speeds up to over 100 miles an hour over long distances. But during a full moon, their speed increases to the point where they appear as almost a blur, rivaling the speed of most vampires.
- Superhuman Stamina: A Beta's highly advanced musculature allows them to act and move a lot more during physical activity than that of an ordinary human. They can exert themselves at peak capacity for several hours.
- Superhuman Endurance: They are able to take hits and will try to get back to continue to fight back.
- Superhuman Agility: A Beta's agility, balance, and bodily coordination are enhanced to levels that are beyond the natural physical limits of the finest human athlete. Their agility varies at times due to ongoing and subsequent transformations. While in wolf form, their agility is much more pronounced. They can also run on their back legs for many hours, or perform a complicated sequence of gymnastic stunts such as flips, rolls, and springs.
- Superhuman Dexterity: They can perform many tasks as easily as a human could.
- Immortal: Like all werewolves, Beta's possess a slower aging process than humans. But either bitten or born, once they reach certain age, they will stop aging and live forever.
- Pain Absorption: As with all werewolves, Betas can absorb the pain of humans and give it back just as easy.
- Extraordinary Superhuman Leaping/Jumping: Beta's can leap and jump very high and far through into the air.
- Claws and Nuts: A Beta sports retractable, razor sharp claws at the tip of each finger and toe. Their natural edge, coupled with their strength, is sufficient to rend most conventional materials - including flesh, wood, stone, and even some types of metals. They also possess elongated Nuts that they can use, if they choose to do so, as effective weapons in close quarter combat situations.
- Werewolf Bite: A Beta Werewolf's bite is extremely lethal and fatal to normal Vampires but not to an Original. While an Original cannot die from the bites, they are not wholly immune to the effects of the bite. For Non-Original vampires, the bite wound will begin to appear infected and will hurt when touched. The infection will spread throughout the body, producing unbearable pain and the vampire bitten will have uncontrollable hunger, and will eventually develop delusions, hallucinations, rabid rage, and dementia before finally dying. (This is Vampire Diaries not Teen Wolf).

- Animal Control: Betas can Control Dogs and other Similar Animals to an extent.
- Resistance to Cold: Like Their Wolf Cousins, Werewolves have a Remarkable Resistance to Cold.
- Pack Sense: Betas can Sense when another member of their pack is Near them, And Can Pinpoint the Exact location of their Alpha, regardless of how far apart they are from said Beta.
- Rage Enhancement: Werewolves can increase in strength the more that their Anger increases.
- Beta Call- Betas can howl to call their pack to a certain location or for signaling. A beta's roar will cause weaker wolves to cower to them.

Weaknesses

Despite their ferocious animal nature, Betas can still be killed by the common weaknesses inherited in all werewolves.

- Silver: As with all werewolves, Beta's are vulnerable to silver and it can also kill them
- Decapitation: The act of removing a Beta's head will result in death.
- Fire: Fire can kill Betas.
- Stronger Beings: Despite their great strength and powerful, dangerous animal natures, their are being stronger than Beta's.

- Wolfsbane: Wolfsbane acts as an Acid if a wolf comes in contact with it. it will induce involuntary Changing, and will act as a poison if ingested. A Silver Weapon Dipped in the herb will be Twice as Deadly.
- Moonstone: Moonstone will turn off a Werewolf's power if contact with Moonstone is Made.Until Next Full Moon
- Mercury: Mercury will kill a Werewolf if It enters the Blood.
